Southern Oregon University utilized an application to identify those that were in need of assistance for funding due to COVID-19. The form responses were reviewed by the Office of Financial Aid to determine which students met the criteria outlined in the HEERF/CARES act. Southern Oregon University identified those students who had the most need determined by the FAFSA form first and then prioritized from there. Each student was reviewed in depth by a case by case basis and all eligibility requirements were checked and verified for accuracy. Southern Oregon University utilized a tiered awarding system based on the answers provided by the students on the CARES form.

Southern Oregon University provided the following link to students via email to their student account, as well as creating a COVID-19 CARES Emergency Grant Assistance FAQ page where students could find answers to all their questions concerning eligibility and timing of the funds.
